COMING SOON

TO THE YWCA ON UNIVERSITY

It's been a long time coming...but we're almost finished with the construction at the YWCA on University. We are so excited about all of our new spaces coming to life. Here's the run-down:

Community Rooms: There will be two huge community rooms with the latest bells and whistles to help you deliver your splashiest event. Supported by our central location in the city, a giant parking lot for ease of entry and direct access to the space, your guests will find the YWCA is a welcome addition to the available meeting place options in Lubbock. The rooms are supported by the latest in technology and a catering kitchen to bring in the refreshments you want to serve. Available for rental beginning February, 2025.

Meeting Spaces: Do you sometimes need a meeting space that could accommodate 20-30 people and offer a little more privacy than a coffee-shop? Whether you need a small training area or a small conference room, the YWCA has a plan for you.

Party Room / Splash Pad: When completed, this party room/splash pad will offer a great space for kids or family parties. In combination with our indoor and outdoor playgrounds you can offer the little ones plenty of opportunities to run off all their energy while you sit back and relax during the fun.

Indoor Playground: The indoor playground will be 5000 square feet of space to support kids at play. Available for rental on the weekends and evenings, the indoor playground will be perfect for parties and will be just right for our childcare kiddos who don't like to be cooped up on cold winter days or scorching hot summer afternoons.

Teen Room: The one thing Lubbock needs is more places for our teens to gather and relax in a safe environment. The teen room has places to learn, to study, to play games and just to chill. Designed for comfort and lounging, the Teen Room offers just exactly what kids want: safety, fun, friends, and, of course, technology.

Community Art Room: Sometimes, we just don't have the room to spread out all of our paraphernalia involved in an art project. The community art room takes the mess from your home to ours. A great space for networking and relaxing while you work. Available for rental if you'd like to have a workshop or gathering space.

Computer Training Room: With a capacity to offer a training class of up to 25 at one time, this computer training room will be an asset for the community and available for rental.

ABL Lab Expansion: Expansion of this wildly successful space will allow targeted support for pre-schoolers as well as afterschoolers. This expansion is possible because of the funding support provided over the years by Wine Women and Shoes.

Sensory Room: Need a space to calm down? Kids often do and the sensory room will bring the latest technology to bear to create just the right environment for kiddos who need an escape from too many sensory stimuli. It will be a great space to add to our toolbox and help children develop the strategies they need to cope with an overwhelming world.

Combest Community Health will have a brand new clinic and we are excited to bring this new source of care right on-site for the convenience of so many! (read more about this on page 26)

WITH A BOOST FROM RELIANT ENERGY, THE YWCA
EMPOWERED 500 CHILDREN WITH ESSENTIAL WATER SAFETY EDUCATION THIS SUMMER.

WATER SAFETY

POWERED BY RELIANT

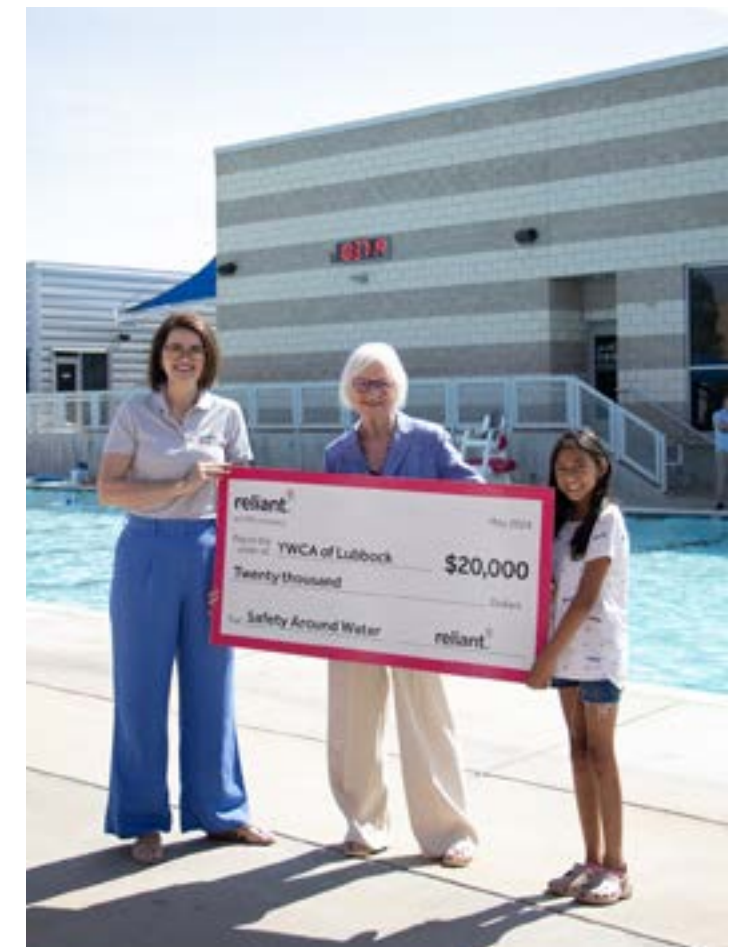

This summer, Reliant Energy made a significant impact in Lubbock by sponsoring the YWCA's Safety Around Water initiative with a generous $20,000 donation. Thanks to this successful partnership, more than 500 local children and teens received crucial water safety education, equipping them with the skills needed to stay safe in and around water.

Reliant Energy and the YWCA of Lubbock worked together to bring these water safety lessons to life, addressing the importance of swim skills in a region with limited access to water activities. Glenda Mathis, CEO of the Lubbock YWCA, emphasized the program's vital role in preparing youth for life-saving situations. "We are incredibly grateful to Reliant Energy for their generous support, which made this summer's Safety Around Water program a tremendous success. Thanks to their partnership, we were able to teach over 500 children and teens life-saving water safety skills that will stay with them for a lifetime," Mathis explained.

The program reached children who might not have had access to swim lessons otherwise, teaching practical swimming skills like the backstroke and treading water. This opportunity bridged a critical gap in access to life-saving education.

Together, Reliant Energy and the YWCA made a lasting impact this summer, empowering hundreds of children with life-saving skills that will benefit them and the community for years to come.

"I'M SO GRATEFUL TO THE YWCA AND RELIANT ENERGY FOR MAKING IT POSSIBLE FOR MY CHILD TO LEARN THESE IMPORTANT SKILLS. MY DAUGHTER USED TO FEEL UNEASY ABOUT BEING IN WATER. NOW, SHE APPROACHES IT WITH CONFIDENCE AND I HAVE A PEACE OF MIND KNOWING SHE'S EQUIPPED TO STAY SAFE IN THE WATER."

SOMETHING to think ABOUT

THE STATE OF CHILD CARE

In today's world, there is plenty to worry about and for young families—child care may be the most pressing need of all. It is not unusual for a quality child care program to cost $800 or more per child per month. Finding high quality child care is the only way parents feel comfortable leaving their child while they go to work and finding high quality child care is critical to a child's learning and social development.

Unfortunately, we have a child care crisis affecting all of us because:

- Lack of quality child care affects children's future success in school.
- Available child care options pose an untenable financial burden on young families.
- Lack of funding means child care programs struggle to attract and retain qualified staff.
- Our businesses and economy feel the brunt when the workforce is compromised by lack of child care.

During the 89th Legislative Session, United Ways of Texas and child care providers are pushing for the legislature to prioritize child care as an investment in the future of our communities. They can accomplish this goal through key priorities.

1) Strengthen Child Care Services (CCS). Right now, we are told the waiting list for our Lubbock families is backed up to July 2023. This waitlist is an impossible burden for families trying to work but needing the financial support of full or partial scholarship assistance for child care.

2) Give child care programs the support they need to recruit and retain qualified and effective staff. Child care programs need the same quality educators as in K-12 schools. The potential for learning is critical in the early years where intervention services can make a huge difference in the trajectory of a child's education. Nonetheless, childcare workers tend to be among the lowest paid industry with many needing financial assistance to support their families. Addressing this critical issue would give meaningful support to the sector and would be an important investment into the future of our children.

Investing in the early years of a child's life will save immeasurable dollars for the future by improving their education readiness and supporting their success with developmental milestones.

Other states recognize the importance of these early years. We are hopeful that Texas will step into the forefront and be the leader for early childhood education by supporting high quality, affordable and accessible child care for all Texas families. In the interim, your support is why the YWCA is a strong example of what quality care should look like. Every dollar you contribute to the YWCA stays right here in Lubbock and goes directly into our programs for Lubbock families.

LOOKING FOR Quality Child Care?

BY GLENDA MATHIS

I built my first childcare center in 1983. We still have a long way to go but I am proud of where childcare is today compared to the 1980s. One thing is clear, however: quality, affordable childcare is still one of the most critical issues facing families and our workforce today.

After building and running more than 50 childcare centers over the course of my career, I can honestly say I am most proud of the YWCA on University. We have such strong community support and can do so much more for families. Back in 1983, we had no way to provide the services the YWCA childcare center provides today.

Much of the change in standards of care was driven by research that showed clearly—child care is not only important to our workforce; childcare is also an important resource to children—helping them meet developmental milestones and reach their potential. Quality preschool and infant-toddler programs are focused on teaching children and helping them learn the skills that prepare them for kindergarten and long-term school success. Let me explain how we approach childcare at the YWCA.

High Quality Curriculum: The YWCA uses the Frog Street Curriculum across our infant/toddler, preschool and pre-kindergarten classrooms. This curriculum was designed by educators and is based on early brain research. It is an approved curriculum in classrooms across the US and provides intentional age-appropriate instruction that is aligned to both federal and state standards. The comprehensive research-based programs integrate instruction across developmental domains and early learning disciplines and helps teachers identify how children are tracking toward key milestones.

Low Child – Teacher Ratios: The ratios at the YWCA are maintained well below what is required in state standards. Under the age of 3, the ratio is 1 teacher to 4 children with a group size of 8! That is an incredible advantage for children and for the teachers who care for them. At age 3, the ratio is no more than 1 teacher to 10 children with a maximum group size averaging 18.

Experienced Staff with Extensive Training: Most of the preschool and pre-kindergarten teachers have been with the YWCA for five years or more. They are trained in the curriculum and bring the latest strategies for helping children learn and socialize effectively. They can see when a child needs special care with speech or other developmental or behavior skills and work with parents to identify ways of supporting their goals.

Network of Specialists: The YWCA is connected to a broad network of specialists in early childhood development and can help parents connect with appropriate professionals in speech or occupational therapies should that be needed.

Large Classrooms: Each classroom is approximately 900 sf allowing children room to play freely.

Current Materials and Adequate Equipment: New toys and books keep up with research-based objectives and keep children engaged. Even more important, there are plenty of materials so that children have many options and are not limited in their range of interests and activities.

Inclusive: One of the key things parents often comment about is how inclusive the YWCA is. They like that for their children and feel that it gives their children a strong preparation for kindergarten and a typical school environment.

ABL Lab: A major difference at the YWCA is the focus on styles of learning. Many children are not prepared to learn in the typical ways and their energy and focus are not easy to corral. The ABL (Action Based Learning) Lab supports those children with an active approach to learning that includes high-energy music and motion as integral to the curriculum objectives. Children LOVE it! So do the adults. Who says learning has to be boring!

Lego Room: Whether your baby is a one-year-old or a high schooler, legos (in the appropriate size) are always in style. The YWCA has a whole room dedicated to putting things together in creative and imaginative ways.

Multiple Indoor and Outdoor Playgrounds: The YWCA has multiple playgrounds...some very structured and some that allow for more organic play and exploration. The expansion in Phase 2 will have our new giant indoor play area for those dreadfully hot or cold days. This space has plenty of opportunities for kids to jump, run, and play... regardless of the weather. It's coming in January, and we cannot wait!

SMART Grant: In 2024, the YWCA was awarded a highly competitive Innovation Grant to assist children who find it hard to adapt and are struggling with various challenges. This grant will allow the YWCA to offer a sensory room just right for children who struggle from time to time and become overwhelmed. The grant will allow for specialized on-site assistance as well as monthly play groups and supportive training for any family looking for strategies and a network of others.

Affordability: Childcare is expensive. It is frequently the largest single expenditure in a family budget. The YWCA works with families to offer some assistance through our various scholarship sources, and we keep the rates as low as possible while maintaining the high standards required to meet the needs of children. Current rates begin at $160 per week with partial scholarship funds available for those who qualify.

The YWCA offers a lot of advantages for our children and families. If you are looking for childcare---come talk to us. We may be just right for your family.

How AMEND Together is Creating a Safer Tomorrow —>

AMEND[™]
TOGETHER

AMEND Together, an initiative of the YWCA of Lubbock, is on a mission to end violence against women and girls by engaging men and boys in a transformative journey toward healthier masculinity. This program challenges harmful cultural norms, promotes respect, and creates a safer future for all. Through mentorship, education, and community partnerships, AMEND Together impacts young men across the Lubbock area, providing them with the tools they need to become responsible and resilient adults.

At the core of AMEND Together's work is a comprehensive mentorship program. Vetted mentors from diverse backgrounds engage with over 1,100 young men across 12 campuses, guiding them in setting goals, building confidence, managing emotions, and handling peer pressure. Mentors offer critical support, helping mentees develop life skills that will shape their futures.

Additionally, AMEND Together provides workshops on financial literacy, communication, conflict resolution, and more. In 2024, the program conducted over 25 workshops, reaching more than 600 participants and their families.

AMEND Together creates safe spaces for young men to explore various interests. Programs like culinary arts, athletic engagement, and life skills workshops allow participants to learn and grow in unique ways. The culinary arts initiative, for instance, introduces participants to nutrition and cooking, while athletic activities like rock climbing and martial arts challenge them physically and mentally. Over 185 participants engaged in these sporting events, and more than 100 young men participated in the culinary arts program.

The impact of AMEND Together is clear. Academic performance among participants has seen a dramatic improvement, with 85% reporting better grades and 90% showing improved school attendance. Beyond academics, 95% of participants reported increased self-confidence, and 85% improved their emotional regulation. The program has also positively affected peer relationships, with 87% of participants experiencing better interactions with their peers and teachers.

The success of AMEND Together wouldn't be possible without the backing of key partners. Organizations like Texas Tech Athletic Department, First Bank of Texas, and The Connect Pro provide essential financial support, resources, and access to unique experiences. From offering sporting event opportunities to hosting financial literacy workshops, these partnerships ensure that the program continues to grow and serve more young men each year.
